NARUMI BONE CHINA

DURABILITY AND FUNCTIONALITY

Due to a high-density crystallized body, Narumi Bone China can withstand considerable shock and heavy usage. This feature demonstrates the suitability for the hotel and restaurant industry. Specially designed refractory cases for firing bodies can create perfect unity of size and shape.

SILKY

SILKY

A STANDARD MANUFACTURING PROCESS OF BONE CHINA ENTAILS THE FOLLOWING STAGES. EACH STAGE IS HANDLED WITH HIGHLY SKILLED CRAFTSMANSHIP TO ENSURE THE FINEST QUALITY.

(1) MIXING:

A body mixture is made with bone ash, feldspar, quartz, kaolin, and ball clay. Among all of the ingredients, bone ash (more than 45% of the mixture) is the key ingredient that enhances whiteness and translucency of Bone China.

(2) FORMING:

Forming methods vary depending upon the shapes. Regular round pieces like plates and bowls are generally formed on jiggers, and such irregular pieces as pots and gravy boats are cast in plaster molds. Oval, square and rectangular pieces, moreover, cast in two-parted plaster molds to stabilize the shapes. The formed bodies, now called 'greenwares', are left to dry and finished with water sponging to gently remove scratches and scars from the surfaces.

(3) FIRST FIRING (BISCUIT):

Differ from the conventional porcelain making, the Bone China's first firing, called 'Biscuit,' is carried out at a temperature of around 1,200 to 1,300 degrees centigrade in the oxidizing atmosphere. This process vitrifies the greenwares and makes them durable, white, and translucent. However, in order to achieve the best results within such specific temperature range, the firing schedule must be carefully controlled. Also, about 20% shrinkage of the greenwares occurring at this stage is apt to cause deformation and cracking. In order to overcome this, most pieces are placed on refractory setters, called 'cranks,' to let them follow the profiles of the setters.

(4) GLAZING:

Bone China's glaze is a mixture of frit and kaolin. Because the biscuit (the greenware after first-fired) is nonabsorbent, the glaze needs to be applied by spraying.

TREASURED WHENEVER FOREVER

(5) SECOND FIRING (GLOST):

The glaze-coated biscuits are set in the saggars in order to avoid direct exposure to flames. The saggars are piled up on kiln cars and sent into a tunnel kiln. When the temperature goes up to around 1,000 to 1,200 degrees centigrade in the oxidizing atmosphere, the glaze melts and fuses onto the biscuits. All glostwares coming out of the kiln are strictly inspected.

(6) DECORATING:

Bone China's standard decorating methods are spraying, decal transferring, gold / platinum finishing, and hand painting. After the decoration, pieces are fired at 700 to 800 degrees centigrade again to make the pigments fuse into the glaze-coatings. Among the mentioned decorating methods, hand-painting is applied only by proficient artisans. Also, gold or platinum finishing is hand-blushed onto the pieces by well-skilled artisans when necessary.

The process starts with molding clay with a potter's wheel or casting, two time firings of clay and glaze, painting by skillful hand and transfer and then ends with strict inspection. The plant operates 24 hours a day to keep the kiln temperature constant. Narumi Bone China, a true work of art, art of clay and fire, is created by advanced technology and warmth of human hands in a carefully controlled system. The plant is filled with silent enthusiasm which turns material into high quality products through the processes from precise molding to careful painting.

Narumi is always aiming to give people wonderful opportunities to enjoy splendid tableware that can make their lives much delighted.
